Kodian Trio's 3rd studio album - apply titled 'III' - and their second for Trost Records, was recorded in one intense live session at the White Noise studio in The Netherlands during a day-off on a European tour. The shared experiences of the road, studio, travel evinces a group sound which is constantly shifting, solidifying, and disappearing completely - true to the essence of free improvisation. On this album the trio shows the core strength as a unit gained from their live experiences, and a band in top shape. Yet within the turmoil there is also a sense of joy, and most importantly a perfect dialogue. KODIAN TRIO is a band that combines free jazz aesthetics with modern experimentation.

Andrew Lisle - drums
Dirk Serries - electric guitar
Colin Webster - alto sax
